In anticipation of the upcoming election and inauguration, HAWDC has been meeting with District officials regarding the city's preparation for potential civil unrest. Currently, the District has not received any information regarding credible threats of large-scale violence surrounding election day or the inauguration. The City has not issued a mandatory order to board up properties. However, HAWDC would like to inquire whether members are taking any proactive measures to board up their properties. Please let us know if you will be boarding up your property for:

- Election Day;
- Inauguration Day; or
- From Election Day through Inauguration Day.

Please respond to this survey by close of business on Friday, October 30th.

Regards,
Lisa
