As you are aware, we sent a survey to members inquiring about their plans to take any proactive measures to board up their properties in anticipation of Election Day and the Inauguration. The results of the survey indicate:

- 80% will not board up their properties.
- 20% will board up their properties (with half boarding up for the entire week of the election, and half only for the day of the election).
- 15% have hired extra security for election week.

HAWDC will continue to monitor the threat assessment and update members if there is any change and the District issues a mandatory order to board up properties.

Regards,
Lisa
